The Shift Awakeness

Your hormones are actively fluctuating. Your body is sending you signals — it's time to adapt your routines and support your nervous system.

Your Tips & Tricks

- 01 Swap to bamboo or linen bedding to soften night sweats and temperature swings.
- 02 Add magnesium glycinate in the evening to help with the 3am cortisol spike.
- 03 Bring in a red light or gentle movement routine to support mood and joints.
- 04 Track your cycle changes — irregularity is data, not something to ignore.
- 05 Talk to your doctor about symptoms now rather than waiting for them to worsen.
- 06 Build one weekly "radical rest" block — this stage asks for more recovery, not less.
