

The Deep Reset Needed

This isn't something to push through alone. Prioritize radical rest and real support — starting today.

YOUR TIPS & TRICKS

- 01 This week, ask for real help — meals, night shifts, anything.
- 02 Talk to your provider about postpartum mood support.
- 03 Protect sleep like it's medicine, because it is.
- 04 Lower the bar on everything non-essential for two weeks.
- 05 Keep gut and nutrient support simple and consistent.
- 06 Revisit this assessment in two weeks.

YOUR DAILY MANTRAS

- "Asking for real help is strength, not surrender."*
- "I do not have to do this alone."*
- "My body has been through so much — it deserves patience."*
- "Rest is the foundation I'm rebuilding on."*
- "This season is hard, and I am still capable."*
- "I am allowed to receive care, not just give it."*

IN GOOD COMPANY

Adele has spoken publicly about the toll early motherhood took on her, and how essential real support — not just willpower — was to her recovery.
